Marriages

Konieczka — Scott

Spring flowers decked the altar of St. Josaphat Church, Saginaw, for April 28th marriage of Miss Joan Konieczka and Pvt. Ralph E. Scott. Father Leo Piaskowski officiated at the double ring ceremony and Nuptial High Mass.

Parents of the bridal couple are Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Konieczka of Saginaw and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Scott of East Jordan.

The bride was attractively gowned in a dress of nylon marquisette over satin. The bodice of the gown was tight fitting, with a flare over the hip which was used at the neckline and also at the pointed wrists. The drindle skirt, which featured a cathedral train, was closely ruffled at the waistline. Below the hipline, a double band of knife pleating in lace and net encircled the skirt of the gown. Her imported illusion veil was secured by a juliet cap studded with seed pearls, and she carried an arm bouquet of American Beauty Roses and baby calla lilies.

Mrs. Margaret Jones, cousin of the bride from Royal Oak as Matron-of-honor, wore a baby blue taffeta and net strapless gown with matching bolero jacket and mitts. Miss Sarah Nelson bridesmand of Saginaw was indentically gowned in a dress of canary yellow. Their matching bouquets were of spring flowers.

Mr. Duren E. Jones of Royal Oak acted as best man, while Mel Suffety of Saginaw performed his duties as usher.

For the wedding, Mrs. Konieczka, chose a navy blue street length dress which was complemented with navy and white accessories, while Mrs. Scott wore a gray dres with white accessories. Both mothers wore pink camellia corsages.

Breakfast was served to the bridal party and immediate families in the Flamingo Room at the Bancroft Hotel, while out of town guests were served at the home of the bride's parents. Immediately following the breakfast a reception for 200 guests took place at the League of Catholic Women Home. Assistant hostesses were Mrs. Anita Kobylzak, Misses Dorothy Hughes, Goldie Holtz and Paula Garrett.

As the couple left on a wedding trip to Ky., she wore a powder-blue suit with navy blue accessories and pink camellias.

Home Economics Specialists Michigan State College

AMOUNT OF FOOD, NOT PRICE OFTEN TELLS VALUE OF PURCHASE

With food prices as they are at present, the best practice is to learn how much actual edible food you are buying for the money you spend, says Mary Morr of the foods and nutrition department of Michigan State College's school of home economics.

Citing an example, she says a homemaker may go to the meat market and find that beef short ribs are only 49 cents per pound and ground beef is 69 cents per pound.

It might seem that the short ribs would be the better buy, considering only the price per pound. But check the amount of actual meat or the number of serving portions that come from each type of meat on the pound basis, she suggests.

Short ribs are almost 50 percent waste in the bone that is purchased, so that only two or possibly three servings come from each pound of short ribs. On the other hand, the ground beef is all meat as it is purchased there is no waste in the form of bone or excess fat so that you can count on four serving portions from one pound of ground beef.

The National Nutrition Council recommends that a well-balanced day's meals include one four-ounce portion of protein food in the form of meat, fish, poultry or their equivalent in the form of eggs and cheese.

In planning to meet these requirements for a family of four, it would be necessary to purchase a pound of ground beef—but two pounds of the short ribs to furnish an equal amount of meat.

Miss Morr points out that the one pound of short ribs at 49 cents a pound would be the more expensive purchase, for it will take two pounds or 98 cents worth of the short ribs to give the same amount of meat that is purchased in he pound of ground beef at 69 cents a pound.

Mr. Harry Pearsall and daughter, Sherrill called at Lonnie Adkins home Sunday. He said they had a baby boy born that morning, May 20th.

Paula Bergman and Billie Dunson, Jr., called on Adkins children Sunday afternoon. Also Kenneth Vondram and L. Dechane came over.

The dance at the Farmers Union Hall. People were there from East Port, Harbor Springs and several other towns from quite a distance. So the news that there is such a hall is spreading out over a larger territory. Everyone had a nice time. There will be another dance Saturday night, May 25th. Everyone come, all are welcome They have been giving door prizes, Mrs. Harvey Mc Pherson and daughter drew the two prizes this last Saturday night.

I understand there will be a class of twelve girls and boys confirmed at the Lutheran Church in what is known as the German Settlement, Sunday morning May 27th. Mr. Sattlemier of Boyne City is the pastor of this church. Mr. and Mrs. Karl Wagner opened their home for the class to meet and study together ever Wednesday after school. I think it was very nice of them to do so, and help start the children on the right road in life.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons
BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: II Chronicles 36:11-21; Psalm 137; Jeremiah 29:1-14; Ezekiel 1:1-3; 11:14-21; Daniel 1.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalm 137: 1-6.

Displaced Persons

Lesson for May 27, 1951

"D. P.'s" are no 20th-century novelty. This displaced person has for centuries dotted the international landscape. We can define a displaced person as one who, unwillingly or unintentionally, is a long way from a home which no longer exists. A D.P. would usually go home if he could, but he can't. His home has been bombed out, or perhaps his whole home town destroyed. Perhaps he and his neighbors have been forcibly moved out by a government that wants some one else in their places.

Dr. Foreman

The D.P. is usually at first poor, in the nature of the case; a foreigner where he is, sometimes without even a native land to go back to, to say nothing of a home town. Perhaps the most tremendous uprooting of people in recent times has been in Korea, where war victims have had to move out by the million.

The Innocent With the Guilty

BUT THE story is not a new one. Back in Bible times many of the Hebrews became D.P.'s. After the downfall of Israel and Judah, thousands of Jews were taken to the country along the Euphrates and Tigris rivers, here to fend for themselves as best they could.

The Bible writers always looked on that experience as a punishment of the nation, and so it was. But the experience illustrates a number of things. One is that the innocent often suffer with the guilty.

Not all those who were forced into those long death-marches had been to blame for their country's wrong-doings. Bad decisions of king and council resulted in personal disasters to thousands who had had nothing to do with their king's bad policies or their aristocrats' debauched lives.

ANOTHER thing to be noticed in the Bible story of these Hebrew D.P.'s is the way they took hold, wherever they were, and helped to build up the country and help themselves at the same time. They took root, in short, and even when later on their descendants were free to go "home," relatively few ever went back to Palestine.

From that time to this, the Jews have been scattered over the wide world, living (where it has been possible) as local citizens of whatever lands they call their own. We can still read Jeremiah's letter (ch. 29) to the D.P.'s from Judah, urging them to buy land, to lay out vineyards and plan houses and generally make themselves at home in Babylon.

We read of an Ezekiel, owning a home and settling down in Babylonia. We find Daniel the boy as a page in the royal household of Nebuchadnezzar, and as a man rising to prominence and power. Many of the D.P.'s took their places among the best citizens of their perforce adopted lands.

D.P.'s In American History

SO it has often been since. The United States alone owes a great deal to D.P.'s. The famous statue of Liberty is a welcome-sign to such people. The Pilgrims who came over in the Mayflower were D.P.'s, already twice uprooted. The Huguenot protestants, driven from France by official persecution, became top-level, successful citizens in England and America.

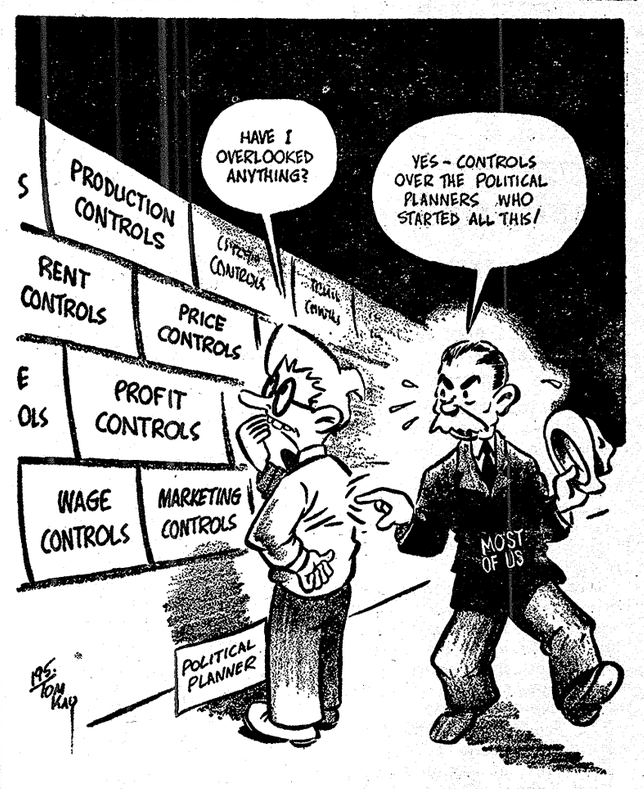

Revolutionary troubles in Europe a hundred years ago brought to American shores Carl Schurz, for example, a fugitive from the police of two countries because he was a revolutionist; here in America becoming a top success in many fields: general of the army, minister to Spain, Secretary of the Interior, prosperous business executive, editor of great city newspapers, writer and orator of international fame.

Not all D.P.'s become famous; but many thousands of them, throughout the troubled ages, have been a blessing to the lands that sheltered them.

So it may be in our time, that as God has before now brought good out of evil, he may in our troubled world bring even from the cruelties of deportation and homelessness again new understandings, fresh beginning, and an interweaving of many strands of humanity into a stronger fabric than before.

THE WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

BY...DREW PEARSON

Chiang Evidence

LOCKED IN the files of the house foreign affairs committee is some dynamite-laden evidence by a former adviser to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, which would be of great interest in the MacArthur-Truman debate.

Secret testimony was given on April 6, 1949, before the foreign affairs committee by Maj. Gen. David G. Barr, former military adviser to Chiang. At that time Barr testified, among other things, that Chiang's staff officers were incompetent, lazy, derelict and in some cases downright dishonest. He described the surrender of some Manchurian cities to the Communists by Chiang's generals as so suspicious as to raise possible doubts of a sell-out to the enemy. In some cases, Chiang's staff officers were not even present when the troops under them surrendered.

General Barr also told how great quantities of American Equipment which we supplied the Nationalist forces fell into Communist hands, and in turn made the Red conquest of China much easier and quicker.

In one case a big allied supply base at Chinchow was left virtually and mysteriously undefended. Considering the amount of American equipment stored there, the actions of the Nationalist Chinese had all the earmarks of a sellout to the Communists who shortly thereafter captured it. It was not long before all Manchuria fell.

General Barr testified that he believed Chiang himself was honest, but that his troops, lacking leadership, long ago had lost the will to fight. For a while the war against the Communists on the Chinese mainland simply depended upon how rapidly Mao Tse-Tung's men wanted to travel.

Taft and MacArthur

Friends of Senator Taft report that the senator's visit with General MacArthur at the Waldorf Tower, New York, netted only two things—Taft's firm conviction that MacArthur meant what he said about keeping out of politics, and second, that the general could outtalk the rather loquacious senator from Ohio.

Taft went to see MacArthur to find out discreetly whether the general had any political intentions; and second, if not, to lay some diplomatic groundwork so that the general might later get on the Taft bandwagon.

MacArthur was cordial, but politically negative. He gave Taft a shortened version of his congressional speech, quoting it in such verbatim detail that it almost seemed as if he had memorized it.

Taft's friends say that he did not tell the general that he, the senator, was a candidate for the presidency though he did hint that the Republicans were most grateful to MacArthur for what he had done and that they would certainly want him to be a leading defense planner if they won in 1952.

History Repeats

Herbert Hoover, who has been the chief confidante of General MacArthur during the present big debate, paradoxically was on the other end of a somewhat similar situation when he was President of the United States.

Hoover made the mistake of ordering the court-martial of Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, a popular marine corps figure, after Butler had started a lecture that Benito Mussolini, then dictator of Italy, had run over a child with his car but failed to stop. General Butler's court-martial was ordered after Italian Ambassador Di Martino had protested officially.

But immediately there arose a tremendous outcry from the American press and public, and for weeks Hoover was the butt of possibly more scathing criticism than Harry Truman.

The situation was somewhat comparable to the present MacArthur debate in that the admirals did not like General Butler any more than some of the leaders in the Pentagon love General MacArthur.

It was also significant that Hoover's popularity at that time had sunk to an extremely low ebb, comparable to that of Truman's today.

In the end, Hoover did what Harry Truman has not done. He abjectly surrendered and called off General Butler's court-martial.

Droughtproof Crops

Most important experiments in modern agriculture in years are being conducted at the government's research laboratory at Beltsville, Md.

Beltsville scientists, though cautious in their comment, indicate that they are on the scent of a sensational discovery that may make farm crops droughtproof.

Briefly, the scientists are developing a chemical spray that makes plants capable of holding moisture for prolonged periods.

Put Back That Electron!

Centering around a discussion having to do with the atomic theory, the instructor of a West Point physics class wrote an equation on the board and stated that a certain number of electrons were involved. From this he developed an entire board full of equations, winding up at the bottom with, "So you see we have five less electrons than at the start. What has become of them?"

Not a sound from the class. Imperiously the instructor asked again, "Gentlemen, where are those electrons?" It was time for action, and from a rear seat came a voice in gruff command: "Don't nobody leave dis room!"

Alter Ego

A little girl who accompanied her mother downtown on a shopping expedition immediately became lost in the first store they visited.

After a diligent search, the mother found her across the store being questioned by a clerk.

"You're a pretty little girl," said the clerk. "What's your name?"

"Pat," replied the kid.

"What else?"

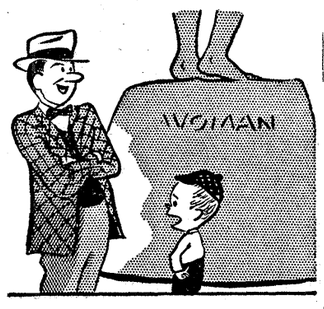

"Pat."

"No, what else do your parents call you?" insisted the clerk.

The kid thought a second, then brightened up.

"Oh, Stupid!"

THE SAME DIFFERENCE

On a visit to Radio City Music Hall, I stopped to admire the life-size bronze statue of a girl. A young man was also admiring the statue, while his small son amused himself by climbing over its base. Suddenly the youngster looked up at the bronze figure, then turned to his father and asked, "What's that?"

"That's the figure of a woman, sonny."

After another inquiring look at the statue, the boy asked, "Daddy, is Mother a woman?"

Before Daddy could answer, Mother, a Mrs. Five-by-Five, waddled toward them. The father gulped, took one longing look at the statue, and then, as he turned toward his wife, said, "Fundamentally, sonny, fundamentally!"

Pet Peeve

Walter O'Keefe asked a woman contestant what her pet peeve was.

"People who ask a woman's age," she replied.

"That's something I never do," O'Keefe assured her, "because that's just like going to a used car lot. The speedometer has been turned back."

Maybe Fish Can't Read

When an editor returned from his Colorado angling expedition he was asked: "Well, how were the fish in those parts?"

"I can't really say," he sighed. "For three weeks I dropped them a line twice a day—but I had no reply."

BEST NOT GOOD ENOUGH

The husband and wife were having a quarrel. "How can you treat me like this?" she wailed, "when I've given you the best ten years of my life?"

The husband stared at her in amazement. "For Pete's sake!" he exclaimed incredulously. "Were those your best?"

TAKEN FOR A "RIDE"

"I'll bet you 10 dollars," a man said to a boastful athlete, "that I can wheel something in a wheelborrow from one street lamp to the next and you aren't able to wheel it back."

The local champ looked him over. He thought of bags of cement, bricks and old iron, and concluded that whatever the stranger could wheel, he could do better.

"Bet taken," he said.

The other man smiled, walked over to a wheelbarrow and said to the boastful athlete, "Get in."

First Love

Then there was the young girl who became a model and was kissed by the first artist she worked for.

"You say," said the girl, "that I am the first model you ever kissed?"

"That's right," he replied.

"And how many models have you had before me?" she persisted.

"Four," he answered. "An apple, two oranges and a vase of flowers."

Michigan Mirror

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

With the legislature due to adjourn this week after the usual hurried passage of last minute bills, political eyes again focus on Washington and the senatorial seat now being warmed by surprise appointee Blair Moody.

The mill is turning on theG.O.P. side for a likely candidate to contest Mood'y popularity. Vandenberg is the name being bandied about most loosely. Arthur Vandenbery Jr., seriously is considering running for the chair so recently vacated by his famous father. He was established residence at Grand Rapids.

Lt. Gov. William C. Vandenberg of Holland (no relation) also is wondering if his magic name could carry him into the job. And he also is a vote getter in his own right.

John B. Martin of Grand Rapids, auditor general, is highly touted as a cendidate—and he also comes from Western Michigan, which traditionally is represented by one senator. Senator Homer Ferguson and Moody both are of Detroit, and Republican feel this is not good state representation.

Other names popping up in connection with the 1952 senatorial election: Sigler, Kelly, Brucker, Ford Potter and Shafer—to mention but a few.

Detroit will celebrate its 250th anniversary without state assistance. A bill to give $15,000 toward the event was ruled out of order by a harried house of representatives.

But the legislatue was not too busy to whomp up a teriffic argument against the old "lien law". The state no longer can file claims against the homesteads of deceased old age assistance recipients.

And, putting the shoe on the other foot, a bill to increase old age assistance maximums from $60 to $70 went down in ignominious defeat.

Interesting interpretation is the decision of the attorney general that instructions by insurance companies to agents not to solicit negroes, Indians, Asiatics or Mexican do not constitute discrimination. What the companies can not do, however, is to increase rates for these people.

Civil defense in Michigan has taken a back seat in news coverage because of legislative activities but now will again assume its position in the front pages. Most recent announcement is that the U. S. Treasury Department has ruled that contributions by corporations and individuals to civil defense are deductible from federal income tax.

And money is one thing CD director Gen. Lester J. Maitland really needs. Most pressing shortage is fire fighting and communicaiton equipment.

Speaking of money and its source, there now is a new educational movie being shown which has a message to every community in the state. Its theme: Help yourself in your own community before running to the state or federal government for aid. And use the local school system as a focal point for community development.

Arthur H. Vandenberg Jr., is back in Grand Rapids studying the files of his father, the late G.O.P. and foreign policy leader, preparatory to publishing his memoirs. He has been approached by several syndicates who are interested in handling them.

The Michigan Farm Bureau has come out in favor of a "proper and permanent home" for the Michigan State library. In a resolution passed by the bureau's board of directors, it was pointed out that hundreds of thousands of rural residents throughout the state have been deprived of library extension service since the Feb, 8 office building fire.

Although oil never has been discovered in Michigan's Upper Penninsula, the conservation department has a request to offer exploration lease on nearly 2,000 acres in Chippewa county.

A legal assistance plan for servicemen has been devised by the state bar. Machinery of the plan, which is unique to Michigan, provides proper handling of legal problems of armed forces personnel from the day they enter service at a minimum cost.

Tree-damaging anomala beetles, present throughout most of the Northern Lower Penninsula, are getting in their most destructive blows in the jack pine forest area in Roscommon, Crawford, Oscora, Ogemaw, Presque Isle and Cheboygan counties. Say Norman F. Smith, conservation department research forster, "Michigan leads the nation in the amount of acreage over the years—but like other heavily forested states we are only now effectively scratching the surface in the battle with insects and disease.

The value of a goal lies in its being pushed over.

Mac Urges Action Against China; Farm Land Prices at Record Peak

MAN WITH A MISSION—At last, much to the relief of the average home-towner, the emotional thinking that manifested itself with the return of Gen. Douglas MacArthur to the United States, gave way to considerable sober reasoning as the general testified before congress concerning the cause and results of his removal as commander in the Pacific.

Stripped of the superficial, the general's testimony revealed him a man with a burning mission—to bring the Korean conflict to a swift and successful conclusion. His objective was no different from that of the administration, except by the method it could be reached.

Before the Senate

Testifying before the house and senate armed services and foreign relations committees, Gen. MacArthur pressed for a new far east policy and air attacks on China. His testimony was called a two-fisted attack on the administration by many Republicans.

Unfortunately, at one point the general allowed himself to be maneuvered by the politicians into an all-out attack on the administration. He did not question, however, President Truman's authority to remove him, and he admitted he had expressed the opinion that the Chinese would not intervene in the conflict.

But he called again for air attacks on China proper, a naval blockade and use of Chinese Nationalist troops. At this point he said he did not believe this would draw Russia into the fight. He added that Russia was in no shape for an all-out war in Asia.

MacArthur's expressed opinion that there is no end in sight for the Korean conflict and that some policy should be worked out to end the war, appealed to the man on Main Street. The question now facing the nation is whether to follow the general's policy and risk all-out war in Asia, or continue with the more cautious one advocated by the administration.

THE OTHER VIEW—And after MacArthur presented his views of how to conduct the war in Korea, the one military man who in the eyes of the home-towner equals MacArthur in ability and popularity, Secretary of Defense Marshall, told the congressional committees that MacArthur's peace appeal to the enemy last March destroyed for the time being any chances of a Korean war settlement.

Marshall made it clear that in his opinion MacArthur's war plans would risk an all-out war with Russia, expose Europe to attack, and perhaps split the free world into two camps.

Step by step the 70-year-old Marshall disputed many of MacArthur's statements and warned against the general's proposal to step up the Korean war by bombing Red China and forcing a Communist surrender. It was MacArthur's outspoken call for this action—and the use of Chinese Nationalist troops—that led to his dismissal.

That is the other side of the picture. But the question remains—which plan for achieving peace will the nation follow. It is a question that must be settled in the mind of each individual American, not just in congress.

LAND PRICES HIT NEW HIGH—Main Street economy is built around the land and what it can produce. And any fluctuation in land prices and its products is a good indication of the economic future of the home town.

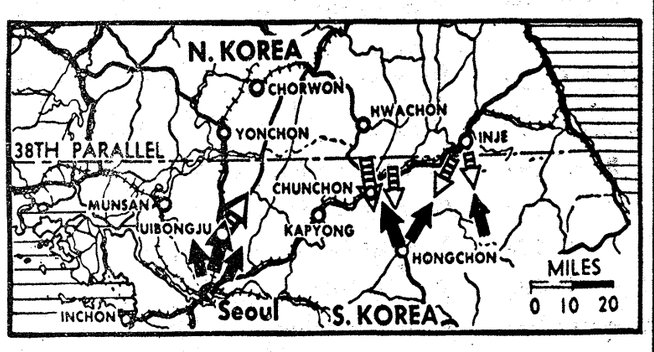

Good farm property is in demand because people think prices are going higher. Land is a good hedge against rising prices. With the government indicating there will be a good market for every thing produced, good farming land is a good investment.

The agriculture department measures rural land values by a national index. This index uses the years 1912-14 as the base period. With 1912-14 prices as 100, the index in March stood at the record high of 193. This was 14 per cent above a year earlier, and 9 per cent higher than the previous peak registered in November of 1948.

MIDWEST FEEDERS HURT—As expected, the OPS regulations rolling back beef prices raised a howl of protest from cattlemen across the nation. But of all the industry, the midwest feeder was hardest hit by the new regulations.

According to authorities in the meat industry, 85 per cent, or seven million steers slaughtered under federal inspection last year, came to market over the feed lot route. But the feeder is now expected to cut down on operations for a time because he cannot buy cattle at a price that will pay him to fatten them.

Fred Tomlin of Pleasant Plains, Ill., said in his case: "There is no reason for me to go out and pay 34 or 35 cents a pound for cattle with the prospect of selling them at 31 or 32 when fattened."

Communists Regroup to Attack

Beaten back in a slaughter that claimed as many as 75,000 casualties, Communists in Korea regrouped for another thrust to the south. UN commanders believed the fighting would stay in the area indicated in the above map.

THE BATTLE ISN'T OVER—The Communist spring offensive ended in the slaughter of approximately 75,000 Chinese and North Korean troops without any notable gains. But the battle isn't over. The Reds retreated into North Korea to regroup for the next phase which could mean another all-out attack at any point along the line.

It may well be that the second phase will begin at any moment. But UN commanders believe it, too, will end in slaughter unparalled in history.

It was clear that UN troops remain in Korea because of superior air power, artillery and mobility. How long this superiority will remain on the UN side if the Chinese use their air forces in support of their troops, is questionable.

HOME TOWN BORROWING—The home towner who thought his town might get that much needed road, school, water system, drainage or sewage-construction project in the near future may be in for a big disappointment.

Charles E. Wilson, mobilization director, has asked states, cities, and counties to get clearances before borrowing in excess of $1,000,000. He made his requests on the need to halt inflationary spending and to save defense-needed materials and man power.

The mobilization chief also asked that soldiers' bonus payments, war memorials, recreational and other postponable projects be put off for the duration of the defense emergency—at least where funds must be borrowed to pay for them.

THE JUNE GRADUATE

Employers Disregard Military Status

Even if this year's college graduate rates 1-A in the draft, the big corporations are hiring him, even for a few months' work, if he is desirable employee material, and will have his job waiting for him when he returns from military service again. This is the prevailing trend reported by college placement officials in the annual employment survey made by Northwestern National Life insurance company.

Smaller employers hiring only a few men, for specific vacancies, try to get draft-exempt personnel, the survey finds.

The big firms, however, feel the present cold war situation may last for many years and for that reason are hiring graduates regardless of possible military service within a short time.

"Always Lost In A Shuffle"

(A Soldier's Lament)

Always lost in a shuffle,
They sure mix up my duffle,
Oh! My poor aching back,
When we march with full pack.

Always lost in a shuffle,
Army grey, routine scffle,
When I miss bugle call,
I'm behind the eight ball.

Been such a long time
Since I felt happy and gay,
Home sweet home so sublime,
What a trill freedom day.

Always lost in a shuffle,
Boy! O! Boy! How I struggle,
When I'm out on my own
I'll be headin' back home.

FARM FACTS
from your County Agricultural Agent
Ed. Rebman, Co. Agr'l Agent

GREEN MANURE CROPS: have found uning green manure crops will increase yielding power of the soil and help control weeds and unwanted grasses. D. L. Clanahan, farm crops extension specialist at Michigan State College recommends buckwheat, rye, oats or any of the clovers or alfalfa for summer green manure crops in the area.

Ed Rebman, county agr'l agent, says the demands for alfalfa and clover for hay and seed purposes exceed the demands to use these crops for green manure. He also points out that some of the more depleted soils cannot produce clover or alfalfa satisfactorily. Buckwheat is the best crop for a summer green manure, the agent believes.

Several steps are necessary to get a good seeding of buckwheat for a green manure crops, according to Calahan, First, the soil must be tested and limed to raise the pH to 6.5. Seed buckwheat in early June at a rate of 1½ bulhels an acre on a well prepared seedbed. At least 300 pounds of 10-6-4, fertilizer an acre should be used. In August, when the first blossoms appear and well ahead of seed setting, disc down the buckwheat.

Plant a fall rye crop in the area to cover the land over winter. This can be plowed down the following spring and a crop for harvest planted.

ANTRIM COUNTY PASTURES DAY

Thursday, June 21, has been set for the Pastures Day to be held on the Robert White farm, Kewadin. The event is being sponsored through the efforts of the Extension Service and the Directors of the Antrim County Soil Conservation District.

The Pastures Day will begin at 10:00 o'clock in the morning and feature inspection of grass plots on the White farm established in 1949, using Ladino Clover, Alfalfa, and Birdsfoot Trefoil in combination with other grasses, Brome grass, Alta-Fescue and Orchard grass.

Grass Silage making will be demonstrated using Ladino Clover and Alfalfa Brome grass. Many farmers will also be interested in the Mechanical Barn Cleaner used in connection with the twenty-five cow dairy herd as well as the milk house.

Dr. R. E. Hodgson of the Bureau of Dairy Industry, United States Department of Agriculture, will be the main speaker of the day.

Following the talk, groups will be escorted on tours to farms in the area to view pasture development program being carried on. These will include Reed Canary grass seeded in 1938, and another seeded in 1949, Ladino Clover, Birdsfoot Trefoil, White Dutch clover and Balboa Rye. Charlevoix County farmers are urged by Ed Rebman, County agricultural agent to attend this Pasures Day.

SHORT STORY

Fixation On Father

By Richard H. Wilkinson

MR. Harlow sat bolt upright in his chair. The psychology lecturer was saying: "And in the normal family, when the daughter reaches the age of 12 or 13 it is quite likely that her fixation will shift from her mother to her father. They will become great friends. Often this fixation on father will remain until the daughter transfers her affections to a mate. However, if father does not respond to daughter's fixation, the child will, unconsciously, shift back to mother, who, in many cases has resented the original transfer—"

3-Minute Fiction

Mr. Harlow rose. He made his way down the long aisle, paying no heed to the annoyed glances of other listeners, gained the outside lobby and paused there, dabbing at a moist brow with his handkerchief.

So that was it! he told himself. So that was the cause of his wife's indignation and wrath and resentment. In his mind's eye the pieces of the puzzle that had troubled him for the past month fell into place. He understood now what had happened; he could see it taking place, step by step. Virginia, his only child had attained the age of 13. She was nearing maturity. Gradually, unconsciously, her fixation had transferred from mother to father. The two had become great friends. Mr. Harlow had been tremendously proud and happy.

Not so Mrs. Harlow, Mrs. Harlow was annoyed. She hadn't understood and presently her annoyance changed to resentment against her husband.

. . . Mr. Harlow returned late that night. It was not his habit to return home late, but tonight there was a definite purpose. Mrs. Harlow had retired, and 10 minutes after he entered the house his daughter Virginia came in. Virginia had been to a party.

Seeing a light in the living room. Virginia came to the door. At sight of her father sitting there alone she uttered a little cry of delight and bounced upon his knee, with the full intention of providing him with details concerning her evening's activities. Something about the expression on her parent's face, however, restrained her.

MR. Harlow smiled at her in a manner that bespoke faint embarrassment. He attempted to brush something from his coat but failed. Thus having had her attention attracted to the something, Virginia investigated and found it to be a daub of powder. She looked at it and frowned. Looking further she discovered a long strand of blond hair.

Horror filled her eyes, a hurt look, an expression of awe and wonder and incredulity, gradually giving way to something bordering on accusation and scorn. She drew away.

Abruptly she flung her arms about her father's neck and promised him that no matter what happened she would keep his secret.

"Why, Daddy! Whatever—who—"? Mr. Harlow interrupted, gesturing airily, saying something about an apology, presently lapsing into a lengthy but rather stupid discourse and ending by stating that it would not be wise or necessary to mention the matter to her mother.

Virginia stared. Abruptly she flung her arms about her father's neck and promised him that no matter what happened she would keep his secret. It would be their secret. Poor mother. She must never know. But he must promise—

Yes, yes. Of course he'd promise. It was all very silly anyway. Just one of those regretful things that would never be repeated.

After awhile Virginia rose and left him. Her attitude brought a lump into Mr. Harlow's throat. But when she had gone he sighed in vast relief. Beginning tomorrow, he knew, his daughter's fixation would be transferred back to her mother. Mrs. Harlow would cease to be irritable and resentful. Harmony would reign once more in the household. And sometime, Mr. Harlow told himself, when Virginia was safely married and away, he would explain it all—and hope that she would understand.

SPICES ADD ZEST TO COMMON FOODS

Spices are often not used except in seasoning of baked goods, pickles, or perhaps cooking ham. However, Ruth Ingalls of the Michigan State College school of home economics, points out that spices on the kitchen shelf can be put to work to give old dishes new flavors.

For best results, she advises that they be used sparingly, since too much of any spice is worse than none at all.

For cinnamon, she suggests that it be used as flavoring for ice cream, or to season ham, lamb, and pork chops. It can also be used in fruit pies.

Cloves can be used to season beans, beets, squash, and sweet potatoes. Try adding one or two loves to hot or iced tea while it is being made.

Ginger can be used with beef, lamb, veal, and poultry.

The home economist suggests that nutmeg can be added to white sauce which is to be used for vegetables. Sprinkle it lightly on buttered carots, cauliflower, kale, potatoes, spinach, sweet potatoes, and succotach. It can also be used in soups and for seasoning beef.

Allspice cn be aded o meat loaf and hamburgers at the rate of one-quarter to one-half teaspoon per pound of meat. Try using it in fruit salads. Another use is to add it to the butter used in seasoning cooked carrots.

Spice will add variety to your cooking, the home economist advises. Try some of the uses suggested and find the many new flavors that you can create.

Poppy Day May 24-25-26

DISABLED VETERANS MAKE TRIRTY MILLION POPPIES

Thirty million hand-made poppies is the big order from the American Legion Auxiliary now being rushed to completion by disabled war veterans in hospitals and convalescent workshops throughout the county, according to Mrs. Mary Hayes, Poppy Chairman of the local Auxiliary Unit 227.

More than 10,00 disabled veterans of both World Wars have been given profitable employment during the winter and spring months shaping the little red memorial flowers which will be worn in memory of their fallen comrades on Poppy Day, May 26. The work not only has enabled them to earn much-needed money but has been valuable to them as occupational therapy, Mrs. Hayes said.

"In the hospitals, the veterans make poppies in their beds, wheel chairs, or in hospital hobby shops. Convalescent workrooms are maintained by the Auxiliary in some states, to give disabled veterans outside the hospitals an opportunity to make poppies."

"In addition to providing employment for men unable to do other work, the poppy program is the main source of financil support for the vast rehabilitation and child welfare work carried out by the Auxiliary. Most of the money which people contribute on Poppy Day remains in the communities where it is raised, and is used to aid local veterans their families."

Poppies will be on sale on the streets of East Jordan May 24, 25, and 26. Be generous when ask to buy this little red flower.

From Out of the West

May 12, 1951

Dear Editor:

Am sending my subscription for the little paper. I see no familiar names or news any more. Didn't intend to take it any longer, but it makes me sort of blue and homesick when I think of it not coming each Thursday morning. Wish I could step back and see the town as it was in 1885 when I left there for the West when I was 18 years old and am now 84 years.

Our part of the North West is most beautiful now.

Respectfully and kindly yours,
Christine C. Allen

Surprise In Store For Mama Ducks

Not a shortage of nest building material, but a couple lazy hen pheasants are responsible for conservation department game men finding something besides duck eggs in two waterfowl nests along the Saginaw river marshes.

Game men here recall no previous instance in which both duck and pheasants eggs have been found in a Michigan waterfowl nest. They counted eight duck and five pheasants eggs in a black's nest and 11 duck eggs and five pheasants eggs in a mallard's bed.

Nests will be rechecked the first week of June to see how many of the eggs hatch. There ought to be two surprised mama ducks if pheasants chicks peep out from under the nest, game men speculate.

Eggs should be held in a cool, moist, well-ventilated room, say Michigan State College poultrymen. Never put warm eggs in a case—it will hold the heat in the eggs. Market at least twice a week.

Warning To Drivers And Owners of Unsafe Cars

"There may be some dispute as to the orgin of the word 'jalopy' but as far as the vehicles themselves are concerned, their end is near."

Chief Harry Simmons issued that statement today as a warning to drivers and owners of unsafe cars. Eas Jordan's police have been instructed to issue tickets on all cars that do not measure up to maximum safety standards.

Cars with only one headlight, or with burned out or obscured rear lights, will be one of the principal targets in the campaign. Drivers who operate cars with bad brakes or other obviously dangerous conditions also will find themselves in trouble, the chief said.

The strict enforcement policy going into effect is in support of East Jordan's May safty program, which is being sponsored by the State Safety Commission in cooperation with the National Safety Council.

"A person who knowingly drives an unsafe car hardly qualifies as a responsible driver," Chief Harry Simmons emphasized. "Nor does an unsafe vehicle give him the confidence he needs to cope with current driving conditions. It's a simple case of both the driver and his car becoming extra hazards to safety, and we're going to do our best to eliminate those hazards."

The official slogan for the May program in East Jordan is Check-Brakes-Lights. Vehicle maintenance for safety is being stressed this month in anticipation of heavy Memorial Day and vacation traffic.

Clean Eggs Bring Premium at Store

Cleanliness is one of the first things the eggs buyer looks for, say Michigan State College extension poultryman. Elimination of causes of dirty eggs will pay profits in consumer good will.

Dirty eggs are often caused by wet or muddy ranges, unclean floors in henhouss, infrequent change of litter on henhouse floors, unclean or insufficient nests, and evercrowding of hen houses. Each of these faults can be corrected.

The problem of muddy ranges can be solved by confining hens each day until noon or at least until eggs are gathered. Wire cloth with a two-inch mesh, fixed under perches and over dropping boards, will prevent hens from carrying filth to the nests.

Dry, clean litter on the henhouse floor should be provided and changed frequently.

An egg is produced clean, the poultrymen asy—help keep it that way by correcting the cause of dirty eggs.

The American Way

The words "Michigan" and "fishing" are practically synonymous at this time of the year. And after an exciting day's fishing, it's the "American Way" to enjoy a glass of cool, refreshing Michigan brewed beer to top off the day.

For beer is the kind of beverage Americans like. It belongs . . . to pleasant living, to good fellowship, to sensible moderation. And our right to enjoy it, this too, belongs . . . to our own American heritage of personal freedom. Beer Belongs . . . Enjoy It

Forest Fire Hazard Now At Its Peak

CONSERVATION DEPARTMENT WARNS BRUSH BURNERS AND SMOKERS

Spring forest fire hazard is at a peak, the conservation department warns brush burners and smokers.

Burning permits are being cancelled by conservation and fire officers in some areas.

Latest and largest loss of the spring danger period, 101 fires and 653 acres damage, jumps the total so far to 308 fires and 2,644 acres damage. Ninety-one of the latest fires were above the Bay City-Muskegon line, with a total of 200 acres burned in the Gladwin district. Biggest single fire of the season, in the eastern Huron mountain area northwest of Marquette, ravished about 120 acres.

"We need warm spring rains in northern lower and upper peninsula counties," says Durward Robson, department field administration chief. "Dry, brown vegetation is ready to pop out with a coat of green—with a little moisture."

The department again points out to brush and vegetation burners who insist on reducing their soil fertility that department burning permits are required. And that they can be cancelled the local conservation or fire officer should the local hazard situation demand.

Fishermen and other travelers are cautioned not to throw tobacco ashes and matches out of car windows.

ANGLING ANGLES by old Hi

When the month of May rolls 'round, it's time to go fly fishin' in earnest. Natural insects — like the caddis, stone, and May flies — are hatching along the bottoms of streams, and taking wing as adults. This is when you want to be on hand with your wet and dry flies.

Some of these "hatches" occur early in the morning, some around midday, and others in the evening. Weather and water temperatures have their effects on insect breeding. You have to examine the stream beds closely, watch the actions of the trout, and look for swarms above the water.

If the fish are grubbing for live nymphs along the bottom, rig up your 2-piece "Silver Lake" wet fly action tubular glass fly rod 8½ feet in length, attach a Sportcraft single action fly reel having 100 yard line capacity, and add two coils of Old Gold level fly line in size G or H. For a lure use a hard-body creeper nymph.

Here's a very good combination, fellows, for the special form of nymph fishing. With it, you'll need from 6 to 12 feet of level nylon leader material, for your line must be well out of sight of the fish in low and clear water.

While the insects are changing from nymphs to adults, and are working upward to the surface, you'll want to try the larger "fly" nymphs and dabble these slowly along a quiet pool, part way up from the bottom. Or select a dull or plain pattern of wet fly and clip its wings to make a small lure—then dabble this through the water.

If it's the period when the mature insects are submerging to begin a new hatch of flies, then the full-sized wet flies in different patterns will be successful. To know which of these are best, and the hook sizes to use, Old Hi suggests you send for a free copy of his fresh water booklet called "Fishing For The Millions."

Just drop a penny postcard to Old Hi, in care of this newspaper, and a copy of this illustrated booklet will be sent to you. Please be sure to print your name and address plainly.

In May the striped bass or rockfish also move along the seacoasts in large numbers, and now is the time to surf cast, troll, or fly fish for these lively, fine tasting fish. You'll find them along both the Atlantic and Pacific coastlines, ready to strike your lure and fight hard.

Near Weldon, N. C., for example, a tremendous spawning run of striped bass occurs up the Roanoke River from about mid-April until mid-May, and nearly everyone heads for the river. Many fishermen even camp nearby. Offshore there are good stretches of beach for casting and trolling.

For details on what tackle and lures to use for taking striped bass, and all other ocean game fish, write today for your free copy of Old Hi's booklets entitled "Salt Water Sports Fishing" (along the Atlantic and Gulf of Mexico Coasts), and "Pacific Coastal Fishing."

Alfalfa Shown As Valuable In Crop Rotation

Grass Day programs throughout Michigan during June will demonstrate to farmers the production and utilization of legumes and grasses in good farming programs.

E. D. Longnecker extension soils specialist at Michigan State College, says demonstrations have been set up at each of the six host farms by MSC agricultural county agricultural agents.

Longnecker believes that a good balance of hay and pasture in the farm cropping program is essential to protect the soil. Tests conducted by the college show the use of legumes in crop rotations not only conserves and builds up the soil, but pays bigger returns over a five-year period.

Experiments on the Lee Ferden farm in Saginaw county show that rotations with alfalfa included in two years of a five-year rotation were most profitable. A one-year use of alfalfa grosses $21.50 less per acre over the five-year period. When no legume or grass was used, the income was $50 less per acre than when two years of alfalfa were included in the five-year rotation.

Michigan farmers will find many helpful demonstrations at the various Grass Day programs to be held throughout the state in June. Featured events will be demonstrations of proper methods of seeding, management, harvesting and using legume and hay crops.

Specialists from Michigan State College and cooperating agencies will be on hand to explain the exhibts and to discuss induvidual problems with visiting farmers.

Machinery demonstrations will be conducted during the afternoon sessions of the all-day events.

Control of mastitis means bigger milk checks. Managed milking and use of a strip cup every day will help in mastitis control.

Check with your county agr'l agent to find the location and date of the nearest Grass Day Demonstrtion in your area during June. You'll profit from the things you'll learn there.

Take It Easy Memorial Day

MEMORIAL DAY IS A DAY TO REMEMBER — NOT TO KILL

A score of Michigan people who leave their homes for their first summer outing the morning of May 30 wil not get back to their homes that night; hundreds will be injured ,The Michigan Department said. If you must drive, be a responsible driver. Have your car's brakes, horn, tires, lights, windshield wipers and steering mechanism checked now. Start early, going and coming. Drive at a sensible speed. Keep your mind on your driving and your eyes on the road. Obey all traffic laws and signs. Watch out for country corners and crossroads at dusk. Don't drink. Be ready and willing to give the foolish fellow your right of way at any time. In protecting the lives of others, you also protect your own.

Early season swimming is another Memorial Day danger. Be a reasponsible swimmer. Cool off and rest after vigorous exercise or a long hot trip before you enter the water. Swim during daylight hours, with at least one companion and, at a guarded beach if at all possible. Avoid swift or strange waters. Leave the water when you are chilled or tired. Refrain from showing off. The safe swimmer is the only good swimmer. Don't overload your boat. Remain seated all the time you are aboard. Sart for shore if a storm threatens.

Take your holiday sunning in short intervals, with suntan lotion. You can burn under a cloudy sky on a cool day and you burn more quickly near or on water.

Remenber that a little swimming, golfing, tennis, rowing, soft ball or golf puts considerable strain on the heart at the beginning of the season.

Take it easy, driving, swimming, boating, sunning and playing. Accept your responsibility for your own safety, and your share of responsibility for the safety of others, the Health Department urged.

Memorial Day is a day to remember — not to kill.

Experiments promise normal milk yield from sterile cows

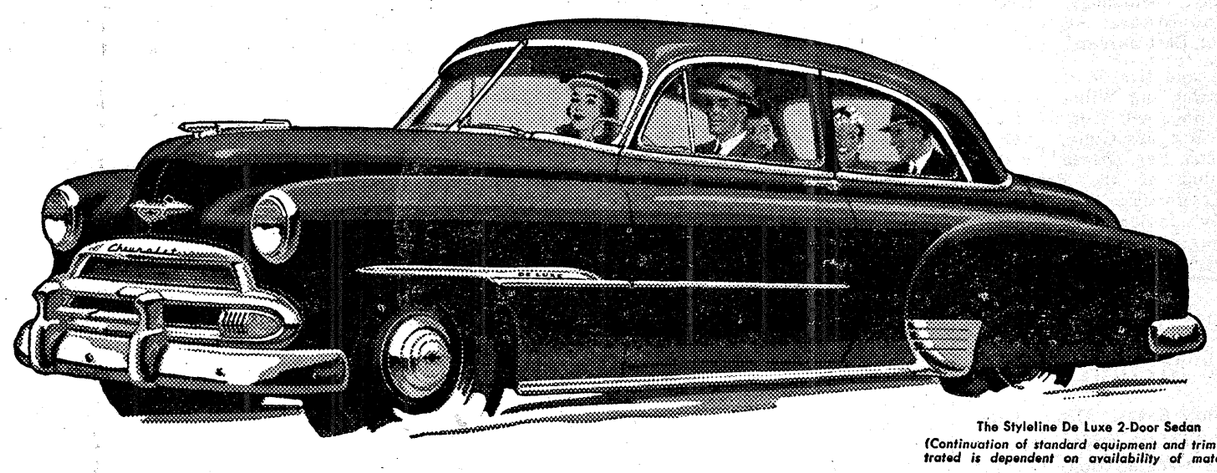

Recent experiments at the Michigan State College Agricultural Experiment Station have shown that sometimes sterile heifers and cows can be made to produce milk and butterfat in normal quantities after injection of two hormones. The hormones are progesterone and diethylstilbestrol. Experiment Station researchers hope soon to develop this process to a point where the average dairyman will be able to use it on his own farm. For further information, call, write or visit your County Agricultural Agent.

New cable cover conserves lead

Practically every rural telephone line goes through a lead-covered cable before it reaches central office switching equipment. Lead is one of the critical materials now required in defense production. To conserve lead, telephone engineers have developed a new cable sheathing called Lepeth. Made of flexible plastic with a thin coating of lead on the outside, Lepeth not only saves lead but also promises increased protection against damage by lightning. Again, telephone efficiency works for everyone.
